

Eric Howell

-Front-End Web Developer-

To Whom It May Concern:

I am really excited at the chance to apply to {insert} as a Junior Front-End Web Developer. I have just completed my certification of completion from Juno College's Bootcamp, as well I have a Bachelor of Arts degree with Honours in History from York University.

In Juno College's Web Development Bootcamp, an intensive, and super fun-paced program. I gained hands-on experience building responsive and accessible applications with HTML5, CSS3/SCSS, JavaScript (ES6+), React, Firebase and REST APIs. It was also thanks to Juno that I had the opportunity to create my own projects and collaborate in pair programming and group settings.

In addition to my coding background, my previous experience lay in customer service where I utilized my sales experience to handle large volumes of requests. I effectively managed customer satisfaction to suit specific needs with open and transparent communication, with active listening skills and with problem-solving. Being an effective team player was at the core of all these roles. It was through that, that I learned how to effectively cope with last minute change and comfortably handled uncertain situations while employing creative approaches. I also have experience working closely with the front office representatives in order to boost sales by enhancing product advertising and presentations. Lastly I was also afforded the opportunity to be responsible for training new staff.

This constant ever-changing environment that I spent my entire adulthood in, instantly from the get go seemed to be apparent within web development. The hustle that this lifestyle is, is something that I can't seem to get enough of. The problem solving aspects that I spent over a decade on, dealing with many individual people at a time, all in a effective time manner, is the same mindset I go in with to my coding. No matter what the problem. I will not rest until I have solved whatever issue may occur within my code, all the while maintaining that positive attitude I curated during my years in customer service.

I fully intend to bring my enthusiasm to this position, and I believe I am well suited to join your team due to my eagerness to learn and my commitment to the success of {insert} in any capacity. I also believe that my previous experience, coupled with my educational background, would make me a strong candidate to work as a Junior Front-End Web Developer. I would be happy to meet with you to explore how I can contribute and am most appreciative if you would consider my application for employment. Thank you for your time and consideration. You can reach me at your convenience by the included contact info and links!

Sincerely,
Eric Howell

Contact

416-670-4846

e_howell@live.com

Links

